CURTAINS REDUCE HIGHER HEATING BILLS

With the recent news of yet more year on year increases in home heating costs by major energy suppliers, leading UK curtain retailer, Paul Simon, offers a low cost and money saving opportunity to millions of families facing relentless rises in annual bills.

Homeowners will feel the chilling impact this winter of up to 19% increases in gas and electricity bills which were recently announced by major energy giants. These rises will strike a massive blow to families and pensioners up and down the country who faced colossal price increases only last year. The relentless steps taken by fuel suppliers could mean that an average family will face the prospect of their annual dual bill soaring to £1288, adding almost £200 a year to home power expenditure.

Energy efficiency awareness is becoming a vital source of domestic cost saving, and for this reason energy conscious retailers like Paul Simon have addressed the matter head on as Managing Director Paul Ludwin explains: "Few people realise that money is literally going out of the window through energy inefficiency at home", says Paul. "More than 20% of heat is lost through windows yet energy experts suggest that savings of up to 25% can be simply achieved with fully lined curtains. This is a point that our staff at Paul Simon try to emphasise to customers, that lined curtains hung at your windows really make a difference". He adds: "These announcements regarding rising energy bills come at the very start of our massive Blue X Sale. This event is one of our biggest of the year when we offer an EXTRA 20% OFF already low sale prices on selected curtains, fabrics, nets, poles, blinds and also beds and sofas. In fact, during this event, we will be offering fully lined, energy saving curtains from as little as £15.99 a pair. In anyone's terms, that's a small price to pay for such large potential energy savings"

With over 50 stores nationwide, Paul Simon are one of the only home furnishing groups that specialise in curtains, along side beds and sofas across the UK. They have more than 200 stunning readymade curtains on display and thousands of luxurious made to measure fabrics to choose from. For more than two decades they have been renowned for excellent choice, quality, value and service, so with extra savings of 20% off sale prices, it is well worth investing a little energy in visiting the Blue X event at Paul Simon. BACKLASH OVER CLINIC CLOSURE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PRESSURE is mounting on the local health authority to reconsider its decision to close a popular health centre for young people after outraged community leaders publicly challenged the move.

Last week the Star reported the Harlow One Stop Shop health suite in Occasio House is set to be axed by NHS West Essex at the end of the month due to funding and accommodation "issues".

It said the OSS – which provides a broad range of support services including a sexual health clinic for 13-25 year-olds – is no longer viable following the withdrawal of other agencies, including Government-backed youth advice service Conne-xions, from the premises.

But this week local MP Robert

SO HAPPY TOGETHER:
Vic and Peggy Lashmar

Couple who moved to Harlow in 1950 celebrate 70 years of marriage

A COUPLE who were among the new town's first residents have proudly placed their third card from the Queen on the mantelpiece after celebrating their 70th wedding anniversary this week. Vic and Peggy Lashmar, of Chippingfield, Old Harlow, were delighted to receive their latest message of congratulations, having already been sent cards on their 60th and 65th anniversaries. The couple first met at the tender age of 19 when they were both working at the Tate & Lyle sugar company in east London. They were married on July 20, 1941 before Mr Lashmar was called up to the Army in which he served for the next six years.

Mr and Mrs Lashmar, both 92, moved to Harlow in 1950 when Vic, then a bricklayer, helped to build the new town. "I think the secret of their relationship is hard work," said the couple's daughter, Gloria McCartney. "All their lives they have both worked very hard and are a great team together." They celebrated their platinum anniversary with two parties - one with friends at the Merefield Day Centre in Partridge Road and another over the weekend with family. "Mum and Dad have had a lovely time," said Gloria. "I'd like to say a particular thank you to the Merefield Day Centre who do a wonderful job looking after people like my parents."

County to wield jobs axe as cuts in spending bite

MORE than 400 jobs are set to go at Essex County Council as the authority attempts to slash its spending by £300m.

Staff working in business support, corporate services, information service modernisation,

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertssexnews.co.uk schools and education strategy, the youth service and the council's adult health and community well-being directorate have all been informed their jobs are at risk and are currently being consulted on the plans.

The council says it is working to minimise the number of compulsory redundancies by reviewing temporary, interim and agency posts and using voluntary redundancy "where appropriate".

However, it confirmed that up to 429 posts could be axed as part of its cost-cutting transformation programme.

David Finch, deputy leader of the Conservative-controlled authority, said it wanted to remain "open and honest" about its plans.

"We do not underestimate how difficult this will be, but throughout the process we will ensure we are open and honest about the changes and have started our engagement with employees as early as possible to make sure they are the first to understand why we are doing this and what it may mean for them," he said.

"Essex County Council is no different to any other organisation that needs to get into shape if it is going to cope with these challenging economic times.

"Reduced budgets have had a direct impact on the county council's headcount and as such these changes have to be announced."

He added: "We have already saved £150m through smarter working so that we can continue to become more efficient and protect frontline services.

"We are committed to keeping residents at the heart of what we do and will continue to shape any changes around them and their priorities."

But Tony Durcan, Labour county councillor for the Harlow West division, condemned the proposed job losses which he said would have an impact on frontline services.

"Never have I witnessed such a dramatic attack on all areas of public services," he told the Star this week. "With reductions in policing and nursing already announced, we now have staff working in children's services and social workers included in the cuts.

"This decision will affect every local service, from schools to libraries to pothole repairs.

"It's not just about losing staff but losing vital skills."

Wagner on song in charity game

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

X FACTOR oddball Wagner may be unlikely to join the likes of Pele and Ronaldinho in the pantheon of Brazil's footballing greats, but he nevertheless tried his best to bring a dash of Samba style to sun-drenched Barrows Farm Stadium on Sunday.

The eccentric Brazilian tenor was among the celebrities taking on Harlow Police officers in a charity football match at the home of Harlow Town FC – and even performed live to a crowd of 1,000-plus spectators after the final whistle.

He was joined by fellow X Factor finalist John Adeleye, Big Brother bad-boy Victor Ebuwa, former EastEnders star Frankie Fitzgerald and a host of other celebs for the football fundraiser in aid of the Princess Alexandra Hospital neonatal intensive care unit appeal.

The only disappointment was the non-appearance of any of the stars from the hit ITV2 show The Only Way Is Essex.

PCSO Dave Brown, manager of the police team, said he was amazed at the number of spectators who turned out to watch the game. "It was great to see whole families turn out and support the teams; the stands were packed," he said. "I believe there were approximately 1,400 people who turned up to watch the match."

The boys in blue took an early lead in the first half but the celebrities netted an equalizer to go in all square at the break before romping home to a 3-1 win – although police suspected foul play when their cheeky opponents trotted out for the second half fielding two extra players!

PCSO Brown added: "Everyone thoroughly enjoyed themselves, it was a lovely day and all the police officers and celebrities stayed behind to mingle with the spectators for photos and autographs."

"Wagner and John Adeleye kindly entertained the crowds after the match by going on the pitch and singing a few numbers."

"It was a great day out and of course, the real winner was the neonatal unit appeal."

Home insulation scheme cuts town CO² emissions

AN energy-saving initiative that has helped to slash heating bills in hundreds of Harlow households is being extended.

The Herts and Essex Energy Partnership (HEEP), which provides free or discounted home insulation to eligible residents, was due to end in March but has continued due to its success in helping to shrink the town's carbon footprint.

The scheme, which is backed by Harlow Council, has seen £334,092 spent on insulation and installation work in the town since its launch in 2009.

Tony Hall, the council's portfolio holder for environment, said: "This is great news and means that we can help more households keep warm and reduce their energy use by providing discounted or free home insulation."

"The work which has already been carried out in Harlow will save enough lifetime carbon dioxide emissions to fill around 83,000 double-decker buses – and that's great news for reducing Harlow's carbon footprint."

To find out more about the scheme, call free on 0800 980 6026 or visit the website at www.heepgrant.org.

Council in talks on future of services

REPRESENTATIVES from more than 50 different organisations attended a conference on Friday to learn more about Harlow Council's plans to offload seven of the town's most popular attractions.

The authority is hoping to save £1.7m a year by finding 'partners' to take over the running of its discretionary portfolio which includes Harlow Playhouse, Pets' Corner, the museum service, The Gibberd Gallery and Parndon Wood Nature Reserve.

Friday's summit at Harlow Study Centre was arranged to give more details on each of

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

the services and the financial incentives on offer to bidders, who will be able to apply for a share of a £1m 'Big Society fund' set up to support the proposed transfers.

Although the Star was excluded from attending the networking event which followed introductory speeches by Harlow MP Rob Halfon and council cabinet member Joel Charles, the authority said delegates from 47 voluntary groups, five public bodies and four private firms participated in group workshops where potential plans for the future of each attraction were discussed with council representatives.

Speaking after the conference, Councillor Charles said 12 of the 56 organisations present had expressed an interest in holding further discussions and added that he was "hopeful" of securing additional interest over the next fortnight.

"I am extremely pleased with how the conference went and the council has had some very positive initial discussions with both small and large organisations," he said. "This is the start of the process and in taking this step we are doing everything we can to secure the future of these popular services."

But former Harlow MP Stan Newens, who was invited to the event in his capacity as chairman of Harlow Civic Society, said he was disappointed in the lack of "concrete" information given to delegates.

"I've nothing against the principle of voluntary groups taking control of these services, but these organisations are going to really struggle to find the volunteers and money needed to run them," he said.

"I'm genuinely concerned that this process will ultimately result in some of the town's most popular services disappearing altogether."

Bishopsfield, Charters Cross and Gibson Court Residents' Association member Jim Rogers was similarly disillusioned with the conference.

"One of my major concerns is the fact there's no plan B," he said. "If an organisation takes over a service but a year or two down the line can't deliver, the council made it clear they won't step in to help, meaning valuable public assets could just be left to rot away."

Sheriff enjoys her taste of Café Youth

THE High Sheriff of Essex was full of praise for Harlow's young people and the council's work on fighting anti-social behaviour when she visited the town on Thursday.

Lady Ruggles-Brise stopped off in the Town Park where she talked to ex-offenders enrolled on the community payback scheme, dropped in at the Harvey Centre's CCTV room and enjoyed a home-made smoothie whipped up by youngsters at Café Youth, pictured above.

"What you have achieved here is superb," she told staff at the West Gate café. "If these are the kind of young people Harlow is producing, then the town can be proud." Joel Charles, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for community and citizenship, said: "We were able to show her the span of activity we do here, from how offenders usefully pay back their debt to society to the way we encourage strong values in our future citizens."

Jail for family pair who took 35 stolen cars to scrapyard

AN uncle and nephew have been jailed for a total of 39 months after pleading guilty to handling cars stolen from the Harlow area.

Chelmsford Crown Court heard that Nicklas Thompson (44), of Spinning Wheel Mead, and Scott Thompson (22), of Spencers Croft, delivered cars stolen just a few hours earlier to a scrapyard in Epping.

The pair handled 35 stolen vehicles in total, the court was told. Although the vehicles would have been worth a combined £11,000 to their owners the scrap metal value was significantly less, with each selling for between £100 and £300.

Jailing Nicklas Thompson for 22 months and Scott Thompson for 17 months on Monday, recorder Jason Beer told the pair: "As handlers, you were both very close to the commission of these offences."

New residents' group launched

A NEW group has been launched to represent residents living in the Church Langley area of Harlow.

The Church Langley Residents' Association aims to promote the interests of all those living in the area and assist with maintaining good community relations.

"We felt for too long there has been no real voice of the people in Church Langley and there are a number of ongoing issues," said chairman Graham Titmus. "We hope to push those issues forwards, represent the views of the residents and take the lead when interacting with councillors."

For more information about the CLRA, visit the group's website at www.churchlangley.org.

Partnership seeking views on plans for mental health centre

PROGRESS on plans for Harlow's main mental health centre will be discussed at a meeting next week during which the public will be invited to express their views.

The North Essex Partnership NHS Trust is seeking opinions about the soon-to-be-revamped Derwent Centre building on the Princess Alexandra Hospital site.

"We bought the Derwent Centre from the hospital a year ago and we really want to build a state-of-the-art centre for our clients, carers and staff," said operational services manager Jackie Fretten.

"For this we need the public's input and ideas. We'll be going through the plans and progress to date and will answer any questions."

The meeting takes place on Tuesday at Lutton Bush Centre in Southern Way, starting at 6pm.

So much for consultation

SIR, When I asked the leader of Harlow Council what plans there were for consultation with the public over discretionary services such as The Playhouse, I was heartened by his initial written response.

He made a commitment that there would indeed be further consultation beyond the closed meeting which is only open to those organisation which may wish to take over those services.

However, when I gave him the opportunity to spell out what the timetable would be for such consultation, he elaborated what he meant – consultation within cabinet and council committees.

I have no problem in principle with exploring options to preserve the future of valued Harlow services in an age of draconian Conservative cuts. ‘Consulting’ behind closed doors and not taking into account the views of Harlow residents, however, stretches the definition beyond breaking point.

Apart from an obligation to consult over changes to the local community strategy, it does make you wonder what the Conservative administration is trying to rush through before the next election in May 2012.

A sad loss to Scouting

SIR, I was so saddened to read in the July 14 edition of the Star about the sad passing of Judi Gilder.

I was involved in Scouting from 1993 until 2002 and Judi was a real legend in the time I got to know her. She was such a great influence on me when I took on a cub pack as Akela in 1995 at 1st Kingsmoor 80.

Judi helped me so much in my early years of Scouting and I had great respect for her. She was always free to listen to any concerns you had, which was a great comfort.

Her influence has clearly helped me as I am currently an athletics coach in the town and the success of some of the athletes I coach I put down to Judi and what she taught me in how to treat the young people.

Scouting has sadly lost a great Scouter, one who had time for anyone and was great to the young people in the town of Harlow

No reason to cut this service

SIR, Like many people I was appalled at the decision of West Essex PCT to close the Harlow One Stop Shop health clinic (Star, July 21).

Robert Halfon MP, myself and Harlow Council are absolutely opposed to the closure but there is no sense in the Labour Party trying to score political points.

At the last election in 2010, Labour threatened to cut NHS spending on hospitals and GPs surgeries. The Conservatives pledged to protect it.

In Wales, which is the only part of the UK where Gordon Brown's Labour Party still hold power, Labour have made sweeping and drastic cuts to frontline NHS services threatening lives and jobs. By contrast, we have ring-fenced NHS budgets and increased patient choice across the UK.

The real outrage of what is happening in Harlow is that the West Essex PCT is getting richer: they will get an extra £12m more this year, a barnstorming increase in funding.

So why are they cutting Harlow services? The bureaucrats at West Essex PCT have some serious questions to answer.

Clr Russell Perrin (Conservative)
Civic Centre, Harlow

SIR, Like Harlow MP Robert Halfon, I am outraged at the decision of West Essex PCT to shut down the health clinic in Occasio House without any warning. This decision came completely out of the blue.

Yes, the Government is having to make cuts in the wider public sector as we have debts of £2 trillions. But the NHS are protected. West Essex PCT isn't facing cuts – they're actually getting MORE money this year than ever before.

With new historic levels of NHS funding, why are local services being cut?

Engineer is a life-saver

SIR, Through your letters columns I would like to thank the BT engineer who contacted me on Friday, July 15 and possibly saved my elderly mother's life.

I had reported her telephone as having a fault, because I had tried unsuccessfully to call her for over 24 hours. I left my mobile number with them as a contact number.

On the Friday afternoon I received a call from the engineer to say he thought Mum had just left the phone off the hook but he would check again to make sure.

A short time later he called again to say he thought there was something wrong with my Mum as he could hear her calling for help and said it sounded like she was very distressed. This enabled me to call my brother and sister-in-law who live near Mum and get them to call round to check if she was ok.

She had fallen but despite having an emergency carline button she had not used it. An ambulance was called and she was taken to hospital; thankfully

What about artificial turf?

SIR, In response to R.H. Mays about goalposts, (Letters, July 7), would it not be more logical to invest revenue obtained from charging football teams for playing fields into further sports facilities for young people?

Some councils change pitches so they can be used for other sports such as cricket. This certainly isn't the case at my local playing field.

Additionally, children generally continue to play football all year round by simply using their clothes and bags as makeshift goalposts, thus making the whole exercise largely pointless.

Perhaps – space permitting, of course – changing the position of pitches twice a year might help prevent whatever problems the ground faces due to intense play.

Or perhaps we need to invest in more artificial turf pitches. I'm sure a little creative thinking by those paid to do so could result in less waste and more facilities for Harlow residents.

Throwing the baby out with the bathwater

AS council leader I am increasingly in the position of explaining cuts to public services in Harlow and justifying the tough decisions we have to take.

But, for once, let me reverse that trend. I am both troubled and baffled by the closure of the One Stop Shop health suite in Occasio House, a story that rightfully made the front page of the Star last week.

You'll know that this is the venue that provides a walk-in sexual health clinic for young people aged 13-25.

Now, I am eternally irritated by the stereotype of Harlow as a pram town populated with Vicky Pollard types from Little Britain. That is a smear generally peddled by those who have never been here.

Harlow does have a slightly higher teenage pregnancy rate than the UK average but let's get it in perspective. We have 4.2 teenage pregnancies for every 100 girls aged 15-17 compared to four in 100 nationally. Significantly, that local rate has fallen by nearly a fifth in the past 13 years.

To keep that figure coming down we need to keep providing practical help and education to young people. Like Harlow MP Robert Halfon I cannot understand why, at a time when NHS West Essex is receiving an extra £12m from the Government, it chooses to cut a service tackling an established problem.

COUNCIL MATTERS

By Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson

The official explanation is that Occasio House is "no longer viable". I need to understand why and the council for one is ready to work with other partners to see if there are ways we could keep the walk-in centre working.

The fact is that teenage pregnancies can cost the taxpayer for years with the health care and housing provision often required. In making a saving by closing the Occasio House service, the PCT may be throwing the baby out with the bathwater.

Housing meeting ends in confusion

ANGRY residents were left little the wiser after quizzing councillors about regeneration plans for three of Harlow's housing estates which will see 214 homes demolished.

About 50 people living in properties at Copshall Close, Aylets Field and The Briars questioned councillors during a heated public meeting organised by pressure group Harlow Defend Council Housing at St James' Church last Wednesday.

The residents, who were first advised of the plans for 200 new homes in the area in November last year, claimed they had been given "contradicting information" on the redevelopment.

Some told the meeting they feared losing their fixed tenancy contracts as proposed in the Government's new Localism Bill while others expressed concerns over the possibility of significant rent hikes should the council hand over the management of the new properties to a housing association.

"It all feels very underhanded at the moment," said Catherine Pepp-

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ard, of The Briars. "Some of us are getting told one thing and others another, so no-one knows what is hearsay and what is true.

"It is depressing; these are our homes they are messing with."

Defend Council Housing committee member Jim Rogers warned residents that if the Localism Bill was passed at the end of this year, it was likely two-year or five-year tenancy agreements would be introduced, "doing away" with secure tenancies and leaving people vulnerable if their personal circumstances changed.

But Clive Souter, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for housing, strongly denied that those currently on secured tenancy agreements would lose their contracts.

"Anyone who has got a secure tenancy has got it and will not have their rights taken away from them," he said.

However, there was confusion among councillors present at the meeting about other concerns and they agreed that tenants deserved to be given more information on the regeneration proposals.

"We are not getting the facts and there is scaremongering as a result of that," said Liberal Democrat councillor John Strachan, whose home in The Briars is earmarked for demolition as part of the plans.

"I don't believe there was proper consultation on this. We need the facts and then we know what we are fighting."

Labour councillor Rod Truan accused the authority of "not knowing what is going on themselves".

He said: "Some of the issues, including the Localism Bill, are still up in the air and even if you as current tenants are assured a fixed tenancy, your children and grandchildren aren't."

"The council needs to decide what is going on themselves and then inform tenants."

Defend Council Housing closed the meeting by setting up an emergency housing group to consult further on the issues raised.

Soccer kids' fundraiser nets £500 for St Clare

YOUNG footballers raised £500 for St Clare Hospice after taking on dads, uncles and older brothers in a charity tournament.

The Summers Youth FC squad decided to raise money for the hospice at Hastingwood in support of a team mate whose mother was cared for there a couple of years ago.

The tournament, which is the second to be held by the club, took place at Passmores School.

Mark Johnston, co-manager of the team, said: "A couple of years ago one of the boys who plays for our teams tragically lost his mum to cancer.

"She continued to watch the boys play football despite her obvious pain and she was an inspiration to the rest of the parents and to the boys in the team.

"We held the charity match to both honour her memory and say thank you to St Clare Hospice for the care and support they gave her and her family during a very distressing time."

Mr Johnston and Treshaun Johnston (10) are pictured presenting the money to Tracy Stratford, events fundraiser for the hospice.

Did you meet Iraqi visitors?

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

WERE you in town the day two Iraqi Government officials came to visit back in the early 1950s?

Alan Gatland, who sent in this marvellous photo taken at The Stow in 1954, told Nostalgia the pair – Mr Sayid Hazim Namiq and Mr Sayid Hassan Talabani – were part of a four-man Iraqi delegation visiting the UK.

The picture was featured in the Harlow Gazette when the two men came to the town to learn more about the workings of local government.

“My wife Jan is the little girl in the pram with the wicker basket in front of the butcher’s shop to the left of Stitchers the grocers,” said Mr Gatland, of Sheering Road, Old Harlow.

“The butchers were Rudgewicks, and next to them were Boots – which is still there today – and then WH Smith. On that row, Jan and I remember there were also Home & Colonial Stores, R & G Ellice the greengrocers, Pearce the bakers and Jaynes Clothes.

“I am sure the traders in The Stow today would like it to be as busy now as it was then!”

Jan, whose father worked in the printing department of the Gazette, said the photograph must have caused quite a stir in the family at the time.

“I would have only been about 18 months and was with my aunt who used to look after me whilst my mother and father were at work,” she said.

“The picture was an official Home Office one and was also put in the Gazette where my father picked it up at work. He must have been quite surprised to see his 18-month-old daughter sitting in the background!”

She added: “I don’t recognise anyone else in the photo but would imagine that all the people lived around The Stow area and that some of the children at least might still be in Harlow.”

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: The age of steam

SCORES of train enthusiasts caught a glimpse of history when they packed the platforms of Harlow Town Station to see two Britannia steam engines.

The first was the Oliver Cromwell, which as reported by Nostalgia, passed through the town on the evening of Saturday, July 2.

Andy Bishop sent in a picture of the train, right, as it steamed through his home town of Sawbridgeworth, describing it as being in “fine form”.

Then, on July 14, the Class 7 Britannia 7000 stopped at Harlow Town Station to refill its water tanks. Local councillor Simon Carter, of Mark Hall, sent in the picture, below.

“Britannia was hauling a steam special – The Cathedrals Express – on its way back from Ely and Cambridge to Lewes in Sussex,” he explained.

“Another trip through Harlow is planned for August 4 to Bath and Bristol.”

Mr Carter informs us that Britannia is currently owned by Pete Waterman, of music producers Stock, Aitkin and Waterman fame.

Facilities to keep push chairs under lock and key are to be provided at Harlow Pool after two buggies were stolen. Although it is the first time pushchairs have been taken from the building, managers have decided to install a bar in the changing rooms to which buggies can be secured.

A pensioner was left heartbroken after losing a gold sovereign given to her by her late husband. The 68-year-old victim believes she lost the 1900 Queen Victoria coin in the Harlow town centre near Broad Walk.

Teachers from Passmore School went back to being pupils when they attended a course on the new GCSE examinations which will be replacing GCEs and CSEs. The General Certificate of Secondary Education course begins for fourth year students in September, despite warnings from teachers about the lack of preparation for it.

Angry residents and traders from the Staple Tye area have launched a campaign to stop their shopping centre closing while it is being rebuilt. Their action is in response to a council decision to prolong the life of the centre which will only last another 10 years without improvement.

Earlier this month the Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust revealed plans to axe up to 250 jobs and cut 60 beds in a bid to meet cost-saving requirements of £17m. The decision was made in the wake of Government public spending cuts and has led to fears that frontline healthcare provision will be compromised as a result. Writing exclusively for the Star this week, PAH Trust chief executive Melanie Walker says she and her staff remain committed to improving patient care despite the "unavoidable" financial challenges it faces.

We must balance the books ... but we're determined to protect frontline services

EVERY day, hundreds of patients come through the doors of The Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust.

We work hard to provide high-quality care for every one of them ... and we want to do even better. That is why we have an exciting improvement plan in place called Building for Excellence.

As a result, the hospital is already:

- assessing emergency patients in new ways to avoid unnecessary admissions;
 - reducing how long patients stay when they are admitted;
 - cutting waiting times for operations and diagnostic tests.
- But to complete our journey of improvement we have to overcome the obstacles in our path. Changes in the NHS and the national economic position mean that, like many others, our hospital trust faces major financial challenges.

The Star has already reported how we intend to cut costs by shedding around 250 posts and closing about 60 beds. In reducing our workforce we are focussing on administrative and other non-clinical roles. By controlling vacancies, redeploying staff and using fewer agency workers, we will keep redundancies to a minimum.

Such changes are unavoidable.

The hospital trust must save £17m this year to balance the budget, with further savings in the two years after that.

Only by securing the financial future of PAH can we ensure it will be able to deliver the quality of care our patients deserve.

We are determined to protect frontline services and are taking opportunities to work more efficiently. This includes ensuring that patients are not in hospital unnecessarily, which is better both for them and the local NHS.

We also need your help. Nearly a third of all our outpatient clinics fail to happen, often because patients miss their appointments. Solving this problem will save significant amounts of money and free up doctors and nurses to use their time more productively.

Please keep your appointments. If you can't make it, contact the hospital in advance so we can give your appointment to someone else.

Big change can be unsettling and we are making every effort to support our staff. I also want to reassure you that we remain completely committed to making The Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust one of the best local hospitals in the country.

If you have any questions or comments, you can contact me by email via the communications team at the hospital. Send your email to communications@pah.nhs.uk.

Closure of clinic a disgrace says MP

Halfon, Harlow Council cabinet member Joel Charles and the Harlow Health Centres Trust called for further discussion on the closure plans, arguing the PCT's decision was both shortsighted and rushed.

HHCT provided the OSS with £50,000 of funding for the reconfiguration of the health suite in 2005, and chairman Martin Lawn told the Star the money had been handed over on the understanding the service would remain operational until at least May 2012.

"This facility has a proven track record of containing the levels of teenage pregnancies in Harlow and is supporting 700-800 young people each month," he added. "Consultation with existing partners and possible new ones may save this vital and necessary provision for young people."

Councillor Charles said the planned closure would create a "black hole" in youth healthcare provision in Harlow.

"I find it very wrong that the health authority has not consulted community leaders over this decision and instead tried to rush it through in less than three weeks," he added. "That is not showing respect to those leaders or to the service users."

Mr Halfon has written to Secretary of State for Health Andrew Lansley to complain about the health authority's conduct.

"I think this is a disgraceful decision by the PCT and I am particularly unhappy about not being told about this, which is in stark contrast with the hospital who spent a good few weeks going through their difficulties with me," he said.

"It is clear that this is a shortsighted decision that will end up costing more in the end."

He added he was surprised the PCT had claimed they could not afford to continue running the service, pointing out that NHS West Essex had received a £12m funding boost from the Department of Health this year.

But Adrian Marr, the health authority's director of resources, claimed the additional funding would be swallowed up by increased costs associated with the rising demand for services across the region.

"While it is good that the NHS is receiving a modest increase in allocation year on year, there is a even greater increase in the cost of rising demands on the NHS," he told the Star.

"This means we need to make savings across all areas of healthcare to ensure that we meet these rising demands within the money allocated for the year."

Harlow GP Dr Rob Gerlis, GP director of commissioning for west Essex, added: "In the current economic climate we have to look carefully at every penny we spend of taxpayers' money."

"Given that we are already investing in similar services in different ways, there isn't a strong case for spending lots more money on developing a new standalone service."

"We will keep a close eye on how sexual health services are performing locally. We monitor month by month the number of teenage pregnancies, for example, and we work to targets for chlamydia screening."

"If needs change and we need to do something more then we will review and make changes."

FLASHBACK:
Last week's Star

What Star readers think

"One of the key benefits of services like Harlow's One Stop Shop is that repeat pregnancies are dramatically reduced, thereby reducing the number of lone parents on a lifetime or long-term welfare benefit. Youths are developing adults and need appropriate non-judgmental support and flexible access hours to services, which the OSS provides but GPs cannot. Is the PCT biased against effective nursing services stepping on their beloved GPs' shoes?"

submitted by YouthFirst

"Absolutely disgusting - it's not about the ease of access, it's more a matter of young people not feeling comfortable talking with certain people about issues. I'm 21 and have been using this service since I was 16. Accidents happen unfortunately, and at the age of 16 if a condom splits during intercourse most young people don't feel confident enough or at ease with speaking to a GP (which they have to book an appointment for, and wait for, which then increases the risk of pregnancy) or speaking to their parents (bear in mind not everyone lives with a parent/guardian but gets chucked from pillar to post in foster care)."

submitted by Tiffany

"Absolutely devastated by the closure of the One Stop Shop. I had problems with drugs and sexual health and mental health issues and they supported me. It's just crazy to think that it has to close."

submitted by Dan

"It just means that [service users] have to walk all the way to Adams House, next to The Square, as this is where the family planning clinic is - have they got something wrong with their legs too? Ridiculous to think that they needed a special service in [Occasio House] when the clinic is all of a three-minute walk away!"

Don't be last to send in Race for Life sponsorship

ORGANISERS of this year's Harlow Race for Life are reminding people who took part to their return sponsorship money after only receiving half of the expected total since the event was held in May.

With more than 2,600 women taking part in the town's biggest fundraiser – once again supported by the Star – organisers expected to raise more than £300,000 for Cancer Research UK.

But in the two months since the race the charity has received just over £140,000 – meaning more than 50 per cent of participants have yet to return their sponsorship money.

Event manager Lucy Hynes urged anyone who took part to "take one last step" by returning the money they have raised.

"Every single penny you raise in sponsorship goes directly to the life saving work of Cancer Research UK and it will save lives," she said. "Every day in East Anglia 75 people are diagnosed with cancer. Your sponsorship will help in the goal to beat that cancer."

You can return sponsorship money by calling 0871 641 1111, online at www.raceforlife.org or by sending a cheque made payable to Cancer Research UK to Race for Life, PO Box 442, Northampton, NN3 6UU.

Rapist: I pray every day for forgiveness

A RAPIST has been jailed for more than four years for attacking a woman who had called at his home in search of a cigarette.

Father-of-three Nelson Githua (51), of St Andrew's Meadow, Harlow, committed the offence on

By COURT REPORTER

August 14 last year after the victim had knocked on his door.

Prosecutor Andrew Jackson told Chelmsford Crown Court the 21-year-old woman said she was looking for cigarettes.

He told her he had some and invited her inside. He then locked the door behind her and forced her up against a wall.

"He started touching her on the legs and fondling her, forcing his hands inside her shorts before manhandling her onto the bed and putting his weight on top of her so she couldn't move," said Mr Jackson.

The victim later told a friend what had happened.

Neil Fitzgibbon, representing Githua, said his client had been "bullied and threatened" in prison since being held in custody after pleading guilty to rape last month, adding: "He's a very scared man."

The court heard he had also sent a letter to the judge in which he wrote: "This was a terrible and tragic mistake. I will pray to God every day for forgiveness."

Jailing Kenyan-born Githua for four years and four months, Judge Karen Walden-Smith said the attack had a "devastating" impact on the victim.

"She has had a history of violent relationships and you put her way back on any road to recovery," she told Githua.

New-look offices for Shopmobility

A NOT-for-profit organisation helping to keep elderly and disabled Harlow residents mobile has been relaunched following a £47,000 office refurbishment.

Harlow Shopmobility, which loans out scooters and wheelchairs, was awarded the grant from Essex County Council to help finish off renovation works at its new premises in Post Office Road.

"The new office is so much better than the temporary cabins that we used to operate from," said manager Sue Fiddler.

"We now have the storage space to keep all the scooters and wheelchairs together as well as simple things like heating and brick walls!

"We just hope the new site will encourage more people to take advantage of the service."

Harlow Council chairman Mike Garnett, who performed the relaunch ceremony, added:

"Shopmobility do a great job in ensuring that residents with particular difficulties get the help they need.

"The council is very pleased to have worked with Shopmobility and look forward to having it as a town centre presence for many years to come."

Transplant dad cycles 50 miles as thank you

A FORMER diabetic and double transplant patient has completed a London to Cambridge bike ride to raise money for the hospital that has given him a new lease of life.

Paul Northam (42) of Halling Hill, Harlow, underwent a kidney and pancreas transplant at Addenbrookes Hospital last year and decided to raise money for the transplant unit as a way of showing his gratitude.

"About four years ago I was told by the hospital that my kidneys had deteriorated so badly from my diabetes that I had just six months until they packed up completely," said Paul.

"It was a huge shock as I had always been very careful to keep my diabetes under control. What was worse was when they told me I needed to lose around two-and-a-half stone to qualify for a transplant."

The father-of-one, who weighed 15 stone, wasted no time in shedding the weight. "I started to watch what I ate and began exercising as much as possible," he said.

"It was quite disheartening at first as nothing seemed to happen, but then after a month the weight began falling off."

Fortunately Paul's kidneys held out past the six months and about a year later after losing the necessary weight he was ready to go on the transplant list.

"It took just 10 days before we received the call to go into hospital," said Paul.

"It was scary but I was so much healthier by then after losing the weight that I was looking forward to all the other benefits of the transplant."

After a 12-day stay in hospital, Paul was off work for almost five months before he was fully recovered from the 12-hour operation.

"The difference in what I can do these days is just amazing," he said. "I'm not diabetic anymore, I have lost another stone and I am so much happier now I'm fit and active."

"My whole family have noticed the change and it has really benefited us all."

Paul, a technician at Harlow company Pitney Bowes, tackled the 50-mile bike ride with work colleagues. He hopes to have raised over £1,000 for the Cambridge hospital.

"I have never done anything like this before and just thought it would be nice to give something back to say thank you," he said.

Cancer charity challenge is a test for pupils

MARIE Curie Cancer Care is calling on all secondary schools in Harlow to sign up for its latest challenge.

The Daffodil Schools Challenge sets pupils aged 11-16 the task of planning and creating a visual display based on the charity's daffodil emblem.

They will also be asked to suggest fundraising ideas, working through activity sheets to develop all the elements of project management.

Essex community fundraiser Bridget Sneddon said: "The money raised from the challenge will help support the Essex Nursing Appeal."

"There are 63 Marie Curie nurses in Essex who provide free care to patients with terminal cancer and other illnesses in their own homes but we need to raise £538,000 this year to continue providing this vital nursing care."

For more details about the challenge, visit www.mariecurie.org.uk/daffodilchallenge or call 08700 340 040.

Back to school eye check-ups

A LOCAL optometrist is targeting parents, teachers and health professionals with a new campaign to raise awareness about the importance of testing children's eyesight.

Polly Duley, of Aves Optometrists in Epping, wants parents to include a sight test in their children's 'back to school' routine this summer.

"There seems to be a lack of understanding about eyesight and eye health," said Ms Duley, who chairs the Optical Confederation's children's eyecare initiative.

"I would urge parents to take their children to see an optometrist or optician as it is just as important as a trip to the dentist."

"It should ideally happen around the age of four or even before, as problems detected this young can be corrected more easily."

NHS sight tests are free for all children under the age of 16. For more information, visit www.aop.org.uk/childrenseyehealth.

Support service helping children fulfil potential

THE Harlow branch of a charity that works to remove obstacles hindering youngsters from learning is raising awareness about the work it does in the town.

During the past 18 months School Home Support has offered advice and support to more than 460 children in 20 primary and secondary schools and made 300 home visits.

The team of eight based at the Netteswell Study Centre specialise in three main areas; attendance, NEET (Not in Employment, Education or Training) prevention and motivational mentoring.

"The focus of our work is early intervention in these areas, although we deal with a whole raft of issues ranging from self esteem to problems at home," said SHS practitioner Ros Pradgett.

"It is about helping young people to work through any issues that are having an impact on their education to enable them to move on and fulfil their potential."

By raising their profile, the group hopes to obtain more support to continue operating.

"Funding is always on my mind," said chief executive Jan Tallis. "In this climate it is essential we secure monies from central government, local companies, corporate donors and generous individuals to ensure the valuable work we do continues in Harlow."

Ros added: "We want people who can benefit from our services to know who we are and we want anyone who can help aid our work to know who we are. It is about raising awareness so that we can extend our support in the community even further."

For more information about SHS or to offer your support, visit www.shs.org.uk or call 0207 2426 5000.

One year to go . . . and counting

SPORTS enthusiasts marked the one-year countdown to the London 2012 Olympic Games on Saturday at an activity day at Mark Hall Sports Centre.

Almost 300 people attended the event organised by activeharlow, one of more than 1,000 open weekend events being held nationwide.

Visitors watched demonstrations and participated in a range of activities organised by local sports and leisure clubs. Highlights included martial arts performances, a wheelchair basketball game, Teegate netball, a Ruggerbugs youth rugby demonstration and Cycle Harlow BMXing.

Several local dignitaries, including Harlow MP Robert Halfon, Tony Hall (Harlow Council portfolio holder for the environment), Lyndsey Ruby (secretary, activeharlow) and Andy Peasey (vice-chairman, activeharlow), Far left, Yee Jing Chan

Andy Peasey, vice-chairman of activeharlow, said: "We're really pleased with how it went. We have guided it from its infancy. We're happy with it and have a view to the event getting bigger and better in years to come. "We'll definitely do something next year. Hopefully there will be a legacy in celebrating sports and leisure in Harlow and we'll carry it on in future years."

Appeal judges dismiss peer's bid to quash guilty verdicts

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE former leader of Essex County Council who was jailed after being found guilty of fiddling his Parliamentary expenses has lost an appeal against his conviction.

Conservative peer Lord Hanningfield lodged the appeal after being found guilty of six counts of false accounting following a trial at Chelmsford Crown Court in May.

He was accused of falsely claiming nearly £14,000 for overnight stays in London when he was not in the capital.

The former pig farmer from West Hanningfield, near Chelmsford, was jailed for nine months on July 1 at Maidstone Crown Court in Kent.

LORD HANNINGFIELD

His appeal was heard before Lord Justice Hughes, Mr Justice Treacy and Mr Justice Blake at the Court of Appeal in London last week. They rejected his application for permission to appeal, ruling that the proposed grounds were "unarguable".

The main argument put forward on behalf of Lord Hanningfield, who was not in court, was that the trial judge misdirected the jury as to the mental element in his defence, which was that he believed he was entitled to do as he did as it was the accepted custom and practice of the Lords.

But Lord Justice Hughes said: "We are entirely satisfied that, however sad the background to this case may be, and however sad may be the end of what was otherwise a distinguished career in public service, this jury did receive an accurate direction in law."

"It faced, and had to face, the question of whether it believed or rejected the defendant's assertions of belief and, sadly, it is plain that it rejected them."

Smokers encouraged to bin their butts

NEW bins with built-in ashtrays are being installed in Harlow town centre in a bid to make smokers think twice about discarding their cigarette butts.

Twenty bins will be placed across The High after a trial in Playhouse Square proved successful in cutting the amount of litter.

Tony Hall, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for the environment, said cigarette ends cause a round-the-clock problem for cleaning staff.

"Hundreds of cigarette ends are dropped in the town centre every day," he said. "This is both unsightly and creates a litter nuisance."

"If we can't persuade people to stop smoking, we can at least encourage them to dispose of cigarette butts in the tidest way possible, and the new bins are designed to do that."

"Besides, it is an offence to drop cigarette ends on the floor and leave them."

▲ ST JAMES WITH ST LUKE'S PRE-SCHOOL

Children were asked to put their drawing skills to the test to design a new logo.

The Perry Road pre-school was recently established as a company under charitable status and wanted to create a new logo to celebrate its relaunch.

The winning design was the work of Olivia Baker and Billie Wright and it is now being used on staff clothing, voluntary school uniforms and on paperwork.

Manager Sue Thompson said: "Olivia and Billie both did fantastic drawings so we merged the two together.

"All the children worked really hard and we are very proud of them. We have a wonderful team here and look forward to our new future together as an establishment in our own right."

► BURNT MILL Students sampled life in Liverpool when they travelled north as part of their annual exchange programme. Staying in halls of residence at Liverpool University, the 12 students and three teachers spent a week at Maghull High School.

While there they visited The Beatles Gallery and Everton FC's Goodison Park stadium.

Teachers and students from Maghull were then invited back to experience life in Harlow during which they took part in numerous workshops and enjoyed outings.

Headteacher Helena Mills said: "We really want to ensure our students experience many different opportunities to broaden their horizons and raise aspirations.

"I was delighted our students got to visit such a great city and begin to think how fantastic an opportunity going to university will be." (photo: HAR0749849)

► POTTER STREET PRIMARY Pupils joined volunteers from a national drinks company to transform their playground into a creative outdoor space.

Staff working for Britvic Soft Drinks spent two months helping teachers and pupils to clean and paint the area, rejuvenate a commemorative garden and pond, dig six new fruit and vegetable patches and renovate existing tables and benches.

"We are really grateful to the volunteers from the Britvic factory in Beckton for giving up their time to help us create a fun and exciting outdoor space for our pupils to enjoy in their down time and learn from in lesson time," said deputy headteacher Gaynor Nelson.

"As well as building a place where children can relax with their friends, we are also using the fruit and vegetable gardens, alongside educational materials from Britvic, to teach children about where these foods come from." She added: "The recreational area and educational materials have been positive and popular additions to our school."

Weighed down by heavy metal suit

RESEARCHERS have discovered that heavy medieval armour was so exhausting to wear it could have affected the outcome of battles.

Scientists at Leeds University monitored museum staff wearing replicas of 15th century suits of armour as they exercised on a treadmill.

By measuring oxygen and carbon dioxide levels and using special cameras, they discovered the sheer weight of the hardened steel and chainmail suits would have made it very difficult for knights and soldiers to run and breathe.

Some armour weighed up to 50kg - almost as much as some of the men wearing it - meaning troops wouldn't have been able to move or fight properly.

Researcher Dr Federico Formenti told reporters: "Being wrapped in a tight shell of armour may have made soldiers feel safe, but you feel breathless as soon as you begin to move around in medieval armour and this would likely limit a soldier's resistance to fight."

The research team believes that heavy armour may have been to blame for the unexpected English victory at the Battle of Agincourt in 1415 when King Henry V's army was vastly outnumbered on the day but won a famous victory over the French. It is now thought the French troops' armour was so heavy that by the time the men had trudged through the mud to get to the battlefield they would have been too exhausted to put up much of a resistance against the English onslaught.

LES BUCKNER

God saw you getting tired and a cure was not to be. So he put his arms around you and whispered "come to me."

With tearful eyes we watched you, and saw you pass away, and although we love you dearly we could not make you stay.

A golden heart stopped beating, hard working hands at rest. God broke our hearts to prove to us, he only takes the best.

Sleep well with the angels.
Lots of love, Lin, Len, Dean, Chris, Kim, Lee, Nichola, Ange & Danny. xxx

Showing more of the darker side of Oliver

REVIEW Oliver Twist Harlow Theatre Company

ADAPTING a classic novel for the stage is a thankless task. For every audience member thrilled at the prospect of seeing their favourite characters brought to life there's bound to be two more left incandescent with rage at the most minor of plot omissions.

Television adaptations have the budget to paper over these cracks with big-name stars, lavish costumes and lush musical scores, but putting together a faithful dramatic interpretation of a story as beloved as Oliver Twist for the theatre is fraught with difficulty. But unlike the somewhat sanitised West End musical which has recorded huge success in neatly sidestepping any potential pitfalls by spoonfeeding the audience irresistibly sweet song and dance routines, Harlow Theatre Company's refreshingly raw take on the tale was an admirable attempt to get to grips with the dark heart of Dickens' scathing satire of Victorian values.

Unsentimental characterisation was the key to its dirt-under-the-fingernails authenticity, especially in the case of Steve Foster's wild-eyed Fagin who walked a tightrope between avuncular charm and pederastic creepiness with sinister ambiguity.

Sophie Lloyd's booze-addled, desperate Nancy was far closer to Dickens' portrayal of an abused teenage prostitute than the wisecracking comic figure re-imagined for the musical, while the explosive Lee Pace was brilliantly brooding as her murderous lover – the brutal, boozed-up bruiser Bill Sykes.

Of the fine ensemble cast's younger performers, the expressive Kai Cooper found just the right mix of wide-eyed innocence and stubborn resolve to shine as a brave yet naïve Oliver, Jake Hannam lent a louche, rakish charm to the criminally underused Artful Dodger and Toby Stacey was endearingly chirpy as wisecracking Toby Crackit.

But by attempting to cram in so much of the novel into a two-and-a-half hour show, the production failed to flesh out the relationships between Oliver and the rest of Fagin's gang, while the trauma of his enforced transition from the workhouse to London's criminal underworld was never satisfactorily explored.

Nevertheless, director Kyle Jaggars and his excellent cast and crew should be commended for a brave attempt to present the tale in all its grimy, gutsy glory. After all, Dickens wouldn't have wanted it any other way.

Vicki presents awards to dance school youngsters

FORMER Allo, Allo actress Vicki Michelle joined talented youngsters on stage when they raised more than £600 for charity with a performance at a school in Harlow

Students from Premiere Dance Schools in Epping, Ware and Ongar staged Once Upon A Time at Mark Hall School in aid of The Rhys Daniels Trust. Packed full of dance and drama, the show featured ballet, tap and modern routines choreographed during the summer term. "It brought a very successful year of 100 per cent exam passes to a colourful and fun ending for us all," said principal Alison Burkett.

"Vicki Michelle was in the audience and came up on stage to present every student with a performance award, making it a very special finale."

The dance school is now preparing for the start of its Junior Glee Club week on Monday.

"The boys and girls will be putting together a mash-up version of The Wiz, Wicked and The Wizard of Oz and learning all about singing, dancing, acting and stagecraft," said Alison.

Marvel at the return of an American superhero

Captain America: The First Avenger
certificate 12A, 2h4m

RECALLING the cliffhanger TV series of the 1950s, Captain America: The First Avenger establishes the origins of one of the most popular superheroes from the Marvel Comics stable.

Director Joe Johnston has an arsenal of state-of-the-art digital effects at his disposal to spruce up the old-fashioned ideals in Christopher Markus and Stephen McFeely's script.

However, there's something rather charming about the underlying themes of self-sacrifice and valour. Only the sadistic killing spree of the central villain – a power-hungry Nazi officer with a burned-off face – warrants the 12A certificate that makes it unsuitable for the very young.

The film opens in the present day with the discovery of the wreckage of a gargantuan craft and then flashes back to 1942 Norway. Diabolical German officer Johann Schmidt (Hugo Weaving) steals a Cosmic Cube belonging to Odin and orders mad scientist Dr Arnim Zola (Toby Jones) to harness its power as part of his plans for world domination.

Meanwhile in America, German defector Dr Abraham Erskine (Stanley Tucci) is spearheading a secret programme to create the ultimate soldier. He chooses asthmatic weakling Steve Rogers (Chris Evans) as the perfect candidate for the treatment.

As if by magic, Steve is transformed into a muscle-bound hunk and enthusiastically does his bit for the Allied effort by portraying a fictional character called Captain America at war rallies.

When good friend James Buchanan (Sebastian Stan) is presumed dead behind enemy lines, Steve joins forces with playboy inventor Howard Stark (Dominic Cooper) and officer Peggy Carter (Hayley Atwell) to parachute in behind enemy lines as Captain America and single-handedly take on the Germans.

Captain America: The First Avenger is an entertaining introduction to the iconic characters, using digital trickery to impose Evans' head on a scrawny body before his metamorphosis.

Atwell makes her entrance by punching an insubordinate soldier in the face and embraces her role as the gutsy love interest with fervour, sparking smouldering screen chemistry with Evans.

Action sequences are orchestrated with aplomb including a daredevil descent into a moving train.

"Captain America Will Return" promises a title card at the end of the film in place of the additional scene we have come to expect from comic book adaptations.

Indeed he will, alongside Iron Man, Thor and Hulk in the big-budget film version of The Avengers, which will be smashing and crashing into cinemas in summer 2012.

>>still on screen

Cars (3D & 2D) Lightning McQueen (voiced by Owen Wilson) returns home to Radiator Springs as the four-time champion of the Piston Cup. Best friend Mater (Larry The Cable Guy) welcomes him back with open doors, as does girlfriend Sally Carrera (Bonnie Hunt). But Italian racing car Francesco Bernoulli (John Turturro) goads Lightning into participating in a newly announced championship organised by environmentalist Miles Axlerod (Eddie Izzard), who plans to use the grand prix to showcase his state-of-the-art biofuel Allinol. However, a group of rogue cars led by the diabolical Professor Zundapp (Thomas Kretschmann) is plotting to sabotage the three races in Japan, Italy and the UK. Thankfully, secret agent Finn McMissile (Michael Caine) and rookie field spy Holley Shiftwell (Emily Mortimer) are on the case, roping in Mater who they mistakenly believe to be an undercover American agent.

Harry Potter & The Deathly Hallows: Part II (3D & 2D) The final chapter of JK Rowling's epic story opens with Voldemort (Ralph Fiennes) stealing the powerful Elder Wand from Dumbledore's grave. Harry (Daniel Radcliffe), Ron (Rupert Grint) and Hermione (Emma Watson) continue their mission to track down the final Horcruxes which contain fragments of Voldemort's blackened soul. The quest leads to Hogwarts where fellow students Neville Longbottom (Matthew Lewis), Luna Lovegood (Evanna Lynch) and Ginny Weasley (Bonnie Wright) are ready to lay down their lives to protect Harry from the Death Eaters including Draco Malfoy (Tom Felton) and his Slytherin sidekicks.

Horrible Bosses Three friends – Nick Hendricks (Jason Bateman), Kurt Buckman (Jason Sudeikis) and Dale Arbus (Charlie Day) – conspire to murder their awful bosses when they realise they are standing in the way of their happiness.

Bridesmaids Picked as her best friend's maid of honor, lovelorn and broke Annie (Kirsten Wing) looks to bluff her way through the expensive and bizarre rituals with an oddball group of bridesmaids.

Mars Needs Mums Milo is only nine, but that's old enough to be tired of having his mother tell him what to do. That's not how the Martians feel, though – they are stealing mums to raise their own Martian young! Stowing away on the ship that takes his mother, Milo soon finds himself caught up in a breathtaking, death-defying adventure on an alien world where his only allies are renegade Earthman Gribble (Dan Fogler) and a teenage Martian girl called Ki.

Rango A lonely chameleon (voiced by Johnny Depp) is stranded in the Mojave Desert where he meets a desert iguana called Beans (Isia Fisher). She takes him to the town of Dirt, which is on the brink of collapse because the water supply is running dangerously low. Wandering into the saloon, the chameleon calls himself Rango and pretends to be a famous gunslinger who killed several critters with a single bullet. The townsfolk are thrilled to have found themselves a hero and Rango becomes the town sheriff.

HORRID HENRY: THE MOVIE
certificate U, 1h32m

HENRY (Theo Stevenson) is a lazy boy with dreams of pop stardom, who runs rings around his mum (Siobhan Hayes) and dad (Mathew Horne).

At school, Henry and his mates – collectively known as The Purple Hand Gang – clash with Moody Margaret (Scarlett Stitt) and her coterie.

A series of pranks in front of two school inspectors threatens the future of Ashdown Primary School and its long-suffering headmistress Miss Oddbod (Rebecca Front), so Henry grimly faces the prospect of attending the local private school run by Vic Van Wrinkle (Richard E Grant), where his rebellious behaviour will not be tolerated.

If only Henry and his chums could win the upcoming talent contest and draw attention to the school's plight.

ZOOKEEPER
certificate PG, 1h41m

GRIFFIN Keyes (Kevin James) is humiliated when his sweetheart Stephanie (Leslie Bibb) rebuffs a marriage proposal. "I know it shouldn't bother me that you're a zookeeper, but it kinda does," she says. Five years later Griffin is headkeeper at Franklin Park Zoo, treating all of the animals with compassion and earning the respect of co-workers Kate (Rosario Dawson) and Venom (Ken Jeong).

One day Stephanie walks back into Griffin's life and throws him into an emotional whirl. The animals, led by Joe the lion (voiced by Sylvester Stallone) and Janet the lioness (Cher), decide to break their silence to help Griffin win her back.

Once the keeper recovers from the shock that the beasts can talk, he follows their conflicting advice about how to woo Stephanie.

Your stars with Patrick Arundell to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20

You must make more time for fun, even at the risk of displeasing your boss and workmates. Usually, people rely on you to pick up the slack at home and work and while you're happy to do just that it can be exhausting from time to time. Maybe the times is right to drop some responsibilities. Head out to a game, play, or concert. Take a trip. Arrange a romantic dinner. Do whatever appeals to your sense of play. Rams need to run free!

Taurus Apr 21-May 21

Your thoughts turn to the past, making you question some of the ways you were raised. It doesn't matter if you had a happy or sad childhood. The important thing is to explore how your family shaped your attitudes. If certain beliefs no longer ring true, feel free to ditch them. Developing your own moral code will be very liberating. Friends might be dismayed at the changes you make to your personal life because they're worried you'll abandon them. Reassure them.

Gemini May 22-Jun 21

Channel your energy into things that lift your spirits. Art, music, and theatre are particularly rewarding areas to explore. You've been blessed with a vivid imagination so use it to create works of beauty. If you feel like you're out of your depth, reach out to a relative whose talents you admire. Taking on a mentor will help you delve into areas that previously intimidated you. Don't show your first attempts to others. Give yourself permission to be a beginner.

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23

Seeking an additional source of income is a good idea. Alternatively, you might want to make improvements to your property. You have the ingenuity and drive to further your fortune. It's all a matter of summoning your leadership ability. If you're willing to venture into unfamiliar territory, others will follow and lend their support. This is a great time to start your own business or invent a product. Learning about mechanics and electronics will be a very good plan.

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23

Your star power is pronounced. Fame, fortune, and favourable publicity will be yours. It's all a matter of drawing attention to your work and talent. Jealous types will make barbed remarks about your behaviour, but that's because they don't have the courage to go after their dreams. You're smart enough to know that you are your own best advocate and you're brave enough to withstand criticism for the sake of fulfilling your goals.

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23

All sorts of challenges are being thrown at you now. Strangely, the best way to deal with them is through resignation. By refusing to put up a fight, you'll give your enemies pause. You'll also teach yourself a valuable lesson about faith. By putting your trust in a higher power, you'll gain a sense of peace and contentment you would never get by trying to fix problems yourself. You have to admit, you're tired of feeling like you have the weight of the world on your shoulders.

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23

Your social life is picking up, and it's about time! You're tired of spending all your time and energy on work. Plan some fun outings with your favourite folk. If that means taking a few days off, so be it. Going to a play, concert, or dance performance will be especially fulfilling. For you, art and beauty are as important as food and water. When you keep putting these essentials aside for the sake of work, you're depriving yourself of essential soul food.

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22

The chance to scramble up the ladder of success is at an all time high. Take this opportunity to apply for a promotion or high profile job. Work related to the performing arts is especially favoured. You might also find success in the realm of education or childcare. It doesn't really matter what you go for so long as it involves a sense of fun. Getting paid to do something you love is a fabulous feeling. Summon your courage and go after the kind of job you've always wanted.

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21

Travel, writing, and education are all beckoning you. Doing the same thing day after day dulls your spirits. You don't get much comfort from familiar routines. Luckily, the universe is sending some spice things up. Demonstrate what you want from your partner, even at the risk of embarrassment. You may be delighted by their reaction. If you're single, it's time to play up your sensual side. Take note of which colours, fabrics, and fashions look best on you. Don't be afraid to wear things that accentuate your natural sexiness.

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20

An intimate relationship will undergo a radical change. If you've been bored with your love life, now is the time to spice things up. Demonstrate what you want from your partner, even at the risk of embarrassment. You may be delighted by their reaction. If you're single, it's time to play up your sensual side. Take note of which colours, fabrics, and fashions look best on you. Don't be afraid to wear things that accentuate your natural sexiness.

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19

Admit you need a helping hand. You've always been independent preferring to support yourself, but right now you don't have the resources or energy to do so. Fortunately, you have lots of friends and relatives who want to lend assistance. State your needs openly and honestly. Try not to feel resentful. By making yourself accessible to others, all of your relationships will improve. You have to let down your defences in order for love to flow in.

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20

Leading a purposeful life is your first priority. Finding ways to make other people's lives easier or bearable is your greatest joy. At work, you seek to relieve colleagues of their burdens and lift the spirits of the public. At home, you make special treats for your friends and family. If you feel as if your efforts are unappreciated, maybe it's time to see yourself. Go on a new fitness regime that allows time to enjoy healthy meals, brisk exercise and plenty of sleep.

AS homeowners, we continued to inject equity into our homes at the start of this year but not to the same degree as much of 2010, recent figures from the Bank of England have shown.

Mortgage borrowers increased their financial stake in properties by £5.8bn in the first three months of the year which was lower than the record-breaking £7.1bn in the previous quarter.

The analysis suggests this trend was a result of decreased activity in the housing market. The injection of equity reflected a fall in the number of sales rather than householders making an active effort to pay off their mortgages more quickly.

From July 1998 to March 2008, homeowners borrowed an extra £328bn against the rising value of their homes. This is known as 'housing equity withdrawal' and saw many homeowners cashing in on the increasing value of their homes to buy luxuries such as cars and holidays. However, since March 2008 this trend has gone into reverse, with an injection of equity into our homes.

The total housing equity injection reached more than £6bn in each of the past three quarters of 2010. In the final three months of the year it reached £7.1bn, the equivalent of 2.8 per cent of post-tax income. This fell to 2.3 per cent of post-tax income in the first quarter of 2011.

During the boom times, equity withdrawal was providing homeowners with the equivalent of a 9 per cent post-tax boost to their incomes. The turnaround, according to the Bank of England's analysis, was because of what was occurring at the end of the housing chain.

The number of homes being sold has fallen to less than half of the levels seen before the banking crisis. So with fewer chains of housing sales there are fewer people cashing in at the end of a chain by trading down or selling without buying a new home at all.

A hybrid worth badgering for

By Matt Joy

IF there's one small problem with the green revolution occurring in the motoring world, it's that excitement and enthusiasm feature quite low on the priority list.

Understandably of course, as headline figures of carbon dioxide emissions and combined cycle miles-per-gallon are what everyone is interested in but if you happen to be a keen driver and a keen greenie too, compromise is your only option. That was until Honda introduced the CR-Z, the first proper attempt at building a hybrid sports car – and it does a fine job too, considering fuel efficiency and performance are almost mutually exclusive. By Honda's own admission it was more about feel than outright punch: the lightweight body made it agile and fun while the brisk performance meant it could still hit over 50mpg.

Now Honda has had a go at pushing the CR-Z as far as it will go thanks to the independent Mugen division. This company has a long association with Honda, particularly in motorsports, but its most recent effort was the fantastically capable Mugen Civic Type-R, and a similar approach has been

Honda CR-Z Mugen

PRICE
£25,000-£30,000
(estimate)

Engine: 1.5-litre supercharged petrol and electric motor producing 197bhp and 158lb.ft of torque
Transmission: 6-speed manual gearbox driving front wheels
Performance: Top speed 135mph (est) / 0-62mph 6.6 seconds
Economy: 50mpg+ combined (est)
Emissions: Below 130g/km CO₂ (est)

adopted for the CR-Z.

Many of the parts on this one-off example are straight from the Mugen shelf: the uprated suspension is near race-specification, as are the mighty brakes and delicious forged alloy wheels. It also receives a major visual fillip with a Mugen-design body kit, with a deeper front bumper, side skirts and a huge rear wing which looks much better in the flesh than you might think. Get on the phone or the Internet and you could have your standard CR-Z converted to this specification for around £8,000. But the real hard work has been done in the engine room and by adding a supercharger to the 1.5-litre petrol motor Mugen has boosted the power output by over 60 per cent to 197bhp, while the already generous torque figure is up by 23 per cent to 215lb.ft. That's good figures for a hot hatch – but the Mugen CR-Z weighs a slight 1,080kg.

Once installed in the close-fitting bucket seats, firing up the CR-Z brings a racing car-like rasp from the exhaust – something which would certainly be toned down a little in a production version. Just like the standard car there are three driving modes, but the Sport mode is replaced with Mugen mode and brings with it full access to the extra power. However, set off in Eco mode and, aside from the much stiffer suspension and hilariously unruly racket from the exhaust, there's very little to distinguish it from the regular car. It will potter along happily, sipping fuel and encouraging you to be thrifty with the green monitor in the smart instrument display awarding you 'leaves' on your digital tree for consistent eco driving. Because of its prototype status official figures have not been calculated, but Honda's tests reveal that 50mpg is still perfectly possible – no compromises on that front then.

But five minutes in Eco mode is enough to confirm that it still works: instead you need to punch the Mugen button and find out what it really can do. Honda had kindly laid on some track time at Rockingham Motor Speedway, and it was the perfect venue to explore its full capabilities. Even though race circuits have a habit of masking the true performance of even the quickest cars, the response and the consistent acceleration of the CR-Z Mugen is a real pleasure. The slick gear change helps to keep the engine singing and it revs right around to 7,000rpm with ease.

Perhaps even more impressive is the handling and grip, allowing it to swoop through bends ever more quickly and instilling huge confidence in the driver. Add in the unshakable brakes that stood up to dozens of hot laps without complaint, and you have a remarkably entertaining package for a car with proper eco credentials.

So where's the catch then? Well truth is you can't go and buy this car yet. This prototype is a one-off, and because of all the development work that went into it, it is effectively worth £150,000. And although Honda firmly says there are no plans for production, they added the caveat that they will listen to customer feedback before making any further steps.

That means it's down to you. If you like the idea of having a modern, stylish and innovative coupe that costs pennies to run but will still attack a twisty back road with glee, you need to get down to your Honda dealer and start badgering them relentlessly. With a good deal of the parts available off the shelf, it would only take a reasonable amount of interest to make it a viable production reality. Then even the eco warriors would be able to raise a smile.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Skills festival to find new soccer stars

SMALL-sided games, challenges, grassroots development and assorted football fun will feature at the debut FA Tesco Skills Festival at Harlow's Mark Hall Sportcentre next month.

The festival takes place on Wednesday August 10 for girl and boy footballers aged from Under-7 to 12. Skills teams nationwide are organising festivals in their respective counties to develop and raise awareness of the Football Association and Tesco initiative.

The scheme not only benefits children, but also coaches and parents who work with clubs.

This is the first such event and features will include a 5v5 tournament with skills stations and extra activities designed to develop the participants' expertise.

"FA Tesco Skills aims to give 5-11s age appropriate coaching and tools to learn the basics needed to reach their full potential and it has already supported over two million children to date," said an Essex FA spokesman.

"By working with Tesco and being supported by Sport England, the FA aims to provide another 2.7 million places by 2014 via coaching and a self-help website."

There will also be the opportunity for coaches to attend a coach education and parent Respect workshop, run by the team and county FA staff.

Prizes will be available for the fair play and skills challenge winners.

All players will receive a certificate for their attendance and clubs can express interest in the day by completing a booking form available at www.essexfa.com

There is already a successful skills centre at Mark Hall on Tuesday evenings after school, so Essex coach Andy Edmunds agreed it was easy to pick the venue. He said: "We're hoping to attract as many people to the event as we can. Mark Hall is a fantastic facility with a 3G AstroTurf pitch, good parking facilities and lots of fields to practice for parents, coaches and players."

"Male and female club players are welcome as well as coaches who've been involved before and new clubs yet to discover the programme. There are a lot of good schools, Charter Standard clubs and those looking for the status in Harlow so this event might increase the amount of CS clubs in the area by reaching more people who can be part of the skills experience."

Completed booking forms need to be returned by Friday, July 29.

Further information on the day can be obtained by calling Andy Edmunds on (07931) 127472 or emailing andy.edmunds@thefa.com

Track event pinnacle of quadkids event

THE 600m was the blue riband event at the first ever quadkids competition in Harlow.

Sixty youngsters aged 8 to 13, including Harlow Athletic Club members, took part in the four-event track and field competition at Mark Hall Sportcentre.

Seven Harlow athletes broke the two-minute barrier in the 600m event.

There was an exciting finish between Mark Hall School pupils Matthew Morgan (13) and Alicia McArdell (13) in the 12-13 years mixed 600m race.

Alicia led throughout, but with just 50

athletics

metres to go Matthew used his 100m sprinting edge to ease past Alicia and win in 1 minute and 47 seconds.

Alicia was second in 1:49.

Other youngsters who broke the two minute barrier were: Lewis Harknett (10-years-old, 1:56), Joe Bailey (12, 1:56), Jodie Radliff (12, 1:57), Rosie Poole (12, 1:59) and Christian Barker (11, 1:59).

The other events that were covered were a 75m sprint, throwing a howler (a rubber form of javelin) and the long jump.

Millie Smith (10) showed that age is no barrier by beating girls up to three years older than her as she won the girls category with 204 points, ahead of second-placed Jodie Radcliff (198) with Alicia McArdell (196) in third.

In the boys event, Matt Pryor was first with 293 points. Will Galvin was second and Joe Walker was third.

The event was organised by Harlow Athletic Club with help from the Essex Athletic Network.

Alemite seeking new challenges

By DAVID RIMMER

football

Park have also quit due to a shortage of players.

Last year the league was split into three divisions of eight, but next season there will be only two divisions.

Stortford league chairman Ron Hampton said: "Nobody wants to lose successful sides but these things do happen."

"Teams have the right to play where they want to. We will keep the league going one way or another."

He added: "We have one young side in Northolt who are coming in. They are in division one. We are not the only Saturday league where this is happening."

Alemite was formed in 1956 and joined the BSSDFL more than 20 years ago. Boss Peter Lucia said the club was searching for a fresh challenge.

"It is a different challenge for us and we want to play different teams. We want to move the club onwards and forwards," he said. "We were getting stale."

Alemite are also changing grounds. Previously at Fairways base, the club will be playing at Paringdon Sports club in Paringdon Road, Harlow, next season.

Alemite's long term ambition is to get into the Essex Olympian League.

Lucia said: "We want to do ourselves justice. We were looking to get into the Olympian League."

Looking ahead to moving to Paringdon, he said: "They have the facilities and the referees changing room. I think it will be a main place for football in the town."

Lucia decided against switching to the Essex Olympian League at this time because of the upheaval of moving from Fairways, but said Alemite will consider this again in the future.

ALEX Dodd gained valuable experience when he was part of the Essex 12 and under team that came fourth in a national tennis competition.

The 12-year-old Harlow Lawn Tennis Club member, who attends Stewards School, lost both his singles matches 2-0 against strong opponents from Avon and Middlesex.

The English national finals were held at Bolton in Lancashire.

Eight teams qualified for the final.

Essex beat Avon 4-2 in the last eight before losing to Northamptonshire in the semi-final.

Essex then lost in the third place play-off match against Middlesex and came fourth.

This came after Alex was a member of the successful Essex team that gained qualification by winning an eastern region competition at Ipswich in Suffolk. Alex suffered from nerves and lost 1-4, 4-0, 6-10 to his Cambridgeshire opponent in his first match.

His second match against Jonathan Simmonds (Suffolk) was a tough one before Alex won 4-1, 4-5 and then 14-12 in a tie-break.

The second set was marked by long rallies and Alex held his nerve to secure a crucial victory for Essex.

Alex also partnered Jacob Ducksbury when the pair claimed a 4-1, 4-2 victory over Bedfordshire in a doubles match.

Head coach Will Calvert said: "Getting selected is a credit for Alex and the hard work he has put in. He should move forward and keep improving."

Midfielder Cowley on the move?

AERIAL TUSSE:
Harlow Town forward Lee Roache, right, challenges for the ball in Tuesday night's game against Leyton Orient

Harlow Town 3, Leyton Orient XI 0 (pre-season friendly)

THE future of midfielder Dave Cowley at Harlow Town is uncertain, writes David Rimmer.

Cowley turned down a chance to go to Blue Square premier club Braintree Town earlier in the summer.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman revealed that Cowley has had trials with Blue Square Bet South club Hampton and Richmond and been offered a deal with them. Other clubs are also rumoured to be interested in the player.

Chapman said: "He wants to play at a higher level and I have no problem with that. I am preparing for being without him."

Meanwhile, Chapman said his choice for the goal-keeping slot will come down to Adam Rafis or Ashley Harris.

He will make a decision at the latest after the Chelmsford away friendly next Wednesday. Harlow also host AFC Hornchurch this Saturday.

Former Blues keeper Bert Greenwood is not being kept on while Chapman plans to send keeper Michael Dumoulin on loan.

Trialist French keeper Bertrand Bossu played 45 minutes against a Leyton Orient XI on Tuesday but is unlikely to be in Chapman's immediate plans.

He recently had trials with Npower League One club Yeovil and played at Hayes from 2001 to 2003.

Trialist midfielder Scott Traveller has also been released and Chapman is running the rule over a French forward but refused to name him.

Leyton Orient also had a friendly against Gillingham on Tuesday and fielded mainly youth team players for their friendly against Harlow on the same night.

The Hawks went ahead when Danny Brown turned in a Jon Docker corner on four minutes. Leon Lalite doubled the Harlow lead on 53 minutes with a sublime 20-yard strike.

The scoring was wrapped up on 89 minutes when Leon Antoine stabbed home from eight yards.

Danny Brown scored Harlow's sole goal when he shot home after 17 minutes in their 1-0 win over a Braintree Town XI in their opening friendly on Saturday.

Chapman added: "The way we performed in these games has been excellent. I could not have asked for anything more."

HARLOW TOWN (squad v Leyton Orient): Bossu, Lemonious, Haverson, Kirby, Lalite, Brown, Ferguson, Docker, Roache, Bunn, Marshall, Taylor, Henry, Traveller, Antoine, Greenwood, Barnard, Mitchell, Peagram.

Heskett unfazed by 'Stow points ruling

Harlow 179, Leigh on Sea 118 (Harlow won by 61 runs)
Shepherd Neame Essex League div two

HARLOW skipper Luke Heskett is taking a philosophical attitude about the allocation of points following Walthamstow's expulsion from the league.

At a league meeting last Wednesday it was decided that all teams that have played against Walthamstow receive 20 points, regardless of the result.

For any scheduled games against Walthamstow for the rest of the season, 20 points will be awarded to the opposition. A side can receive anything between 0-22 points from a game.

Harlow gained 18 points from their match against Walthamstow which means they gain two points, but other teams such as leaders Southend on Sea (3) gained fewer against Walthamstow so will earn more.

Harlow were due to play Walthamstow again on September 3 and will get 20 points for this.

Earlier, Walthamstow were expelled after they falsified information to allow an overseas cricketer to play for them.

"We would have lost points if they had taken all the points away from the Walthamstow games and doing it this way means other teams gain more than we did," said Heskett.

"We would lose either way. We have to get on with it."

Two sides are set to be promoted and Harlow are currently second, 24 points ahead of third placed Leigh on Sea whom they beat at home last Saturday.

Harlow – missing Andrew McGarry, Luke Monger and Matt Nobes – were bowled out for 179.

The hosts owed much to a second wicket stand of 121 between Rehman Ahmed (55) and Haris Afridi (80) after the first wicket fell with just one run on the scoreboard.

Leigh skipper Sean Elliott took 6-54.

In reply, Leigh were mainly undone by Nicky Baxter who bowled superbly to take 6-44, with five of his victims coming in the top six.

Two of Baxter's wickets came through in-swinging yorkers which bowled Joe and Mark Sexton.

Ahmed Khawaja took 3-27.

Heskett said: "This was a great performance. Haris (Afridi) and Rehman (Ahmed) batted well and Nick's (Baxter) spell was absolutely fantastic."

● Harlow host Stanford le Hope on Saturday.

Town slip to second after Bois defeat

Harlow Town 124-9, Theydon Bois 126-3 (Harlow Town lost by seven wickets)
Herts and Essex Cricket League div one

THE championship ambitions of Harlow Town suffered a blow when they lost to fellow title contenders Theydon Bois.

Town slipped into second spot and are now 13 points behind Theydon. Town lost the toss and were asked to bat on a wet but drying wicket. They paid the price for poor shots as they slumped from 54-1 to 63-5.

It was left to Scott Alderson and Ron Yates (19) to rebuild the innings against tight bowling. Town struggled to just 124-9 from their 45 overs, Alderson the top scorer with 32.

After tea Theydon found the conditions more favourable but Town battled with the ball. Dan Calver took three wickets and thanks to some excellent catching Theydon wobbled on 42-3.

However, they batsmen were always comfortable chasing a small total and were deserved winners by seven wickets.

Town's skipper Vic Goddard said: "It was a shame the wicket started off so wet and this made batting very difficult, but we didn't help ourselves with some poor shot selection."

"We now have to rely on someone doing us a favour and taking points off Theydon and make sure we win our remaining games."

Town play South Loughton at home on Saturday.

● In division two, Jason Gladwin made 60 as Harlow Town II (178-6) defeated Dunmow II (177-7) by four wickets.

Harlow Town III (162) overcame Thundridge (150); Paul Morrell 2-10 from 10 overs) by 12 runs in division five.

In division seven, Harlow Town IV (103) lost by 26 runs against Rickling Ramblers II (129-8).

In division three, Potter Street (155-8) beat High Beach (154) by two wickets.
